

What to do in an electrical power cut

If you experience a power cut, call 105 free of charge to get help and advice. You can also contact your regional electricity distribution company (the people who are responsible for getting power into your home) direct. Please find below the details for the electricity distributor in your area.

| Region  | Telephone Number                   |
|---|------------------------------------|
| Central &amp; South of Scotland        |                                    |
| Scottish Power                                | 0800 092 9290               |
| Central Southern England               |                                    |
| Scottish and Southern Energy                  | 0800 072 7282               |
| East England                           |                                    |
| UK Power Networks                             | 0800 783 8838               |
| London                                 |                                    |
| UK Power Networks                             | 0800 028 0247/0800 029 4285 |
| Merseyside, North Wales &amp; Cheshire |                                    |
| Scottish Power                                | 0800 001 5400               |
| Midlands                               |                                    |
| Western Power Distribution                    | 0800 096 3080               |
| North East England Northern            |                                    |
| Power Grid                                    | 0800 668 877                |
| North West England                     |                                    |
| Electricity North West                        | 0800 195 4141               |
| North of Scotland                      |                                    |
| Scottish and Southern Energy                  | 0800 300 999                |
| South East England                     |                                    |
| UK Power Networks                             | 0800 783 8866               |
| South Wales                            |                                    |
| Western Power                                 | 0800 052 0400               |
| South West England                     |                                    |
| Western Power                                 | 0800 096 3080               |
| Yorkshire                              |                                    |
| Northern Power Grid                           | 0800 375 675                |